Frage 1

Bisher nicht beantwortet

Erreichbare Punkte: 1,00

According to Scheffler's understanding of the term „afterlife", a person's P afterlife refers to

Wählen Sie eine Antwort:

- a. both P and other persons continuing to live after P's death
- b. other persons continuing to live after P's death
- c. P continuing to live after his/her death

Frage 2

Bisher nicht beantwortet

Erreichbare Punkte: 1,00

Scheffler attempts to investigate "our" attitudes about the afterlife. Who does he refer to by "our"?

Wählen Sie eine oder mehrere Antworten:

- a. the attitudes of other people who share his own attitudes
- b. the attitudes of all people who deny God
- c. his own attitudes
- d. the attitudes of all people

Frage 3

Bisher nicht beantwortet

Erreichbare Punkte: 1,00

What is the main purpose of Scheffler's doomsday thought experiment?

Wählen Sie eine Antwort:

- a. to provide an example (illustration) of his theory of the afterlife
- b. to cast doubt on the existence of God
- c. to reveal our attitudes towards the afterlife
- d. to entertain his readers
- e. to clarify the meaning of the term "afterlife"

Frage 4

Bisher nicht beantwortet

Erreichbare Punkte: 1,00

According to Scheffler, if we reacted to the doomsday thought experiment with indifference this would suggest that only our own experiences matter to us.

Bitte wählen Sie eine Antwort:

- Wahr
- Falsch

Frage 5

Bisher nicht beantwortet

Erreichbare Punkte: 1,00

Scheffler thinks that the looming doomsday would, among others, negatively affect our motivation to engage in certain kinds of projects – most importantly, projects that

Wählen Sie eine oder mehrere Antworten:

- a. will only bear their full fruits in the (distant) future (e.g., because they require the efforts of many people over longer periods of time)
- b. will only benefit those who are engaged in them, and quite immediately so
- c. will, if successful, benefit a large number of people but only over longer periods of time

Frage 6

Bisher nicht beantwortet

Erreichbare Punkte: 1,00

One reason that Scheffler provides for our significant dismay in the face of the doomsday scenario is that it would prevent the “personalization” of our relation with the future. By this he mainly means that

Wählen Sie eine Antwort:

- a. many persons would die in the eradication of humanity
- b. we would no longer “exist” in terms of the social relations and memories of people
- c. we could no longer think of the future as being directed towards some goal, like persons aim at goals

Frage 7

Bisher nicht beantwortet

Erreichbare Punkte: 1,00

According to Scheffler, two strategies to sustain and preserve the things that are of value to us beyond our personal death is to promote traditions that incorporate this value and to become part of groups that adhere to this value.

Bitte wählen Sie eine Antwort:

- Wahr
- Falsch

Frage 8

Bisher nicht beantwortet

Erreichbare Punkte: 1,00

Among others, Scheffler referred to cancer research as one of the projects that would be undermined by the prospect of a looming doomsday

Wählen Sie eine Antwort:

- a. because cancer research has become the most widely used example in the literature on the afterlife
- b. because this project exemplifies the quest for knowledge which is a particularly important value
- c. because this project does not only benefit particular people that are close to the researcher

Frage 9

Bisher nicht beantwortet

Erreichbare Punkte: 1,00

The infertility scenario is supposed to show that if humanity did not continue to exist this would still leave a large number of activities that we deem to be of value and that we are emotionally engaged in.

Bitte wählen Sie eine Antwort:

- Wahr
- Falsch

Frage 10

Bisher nicht beantwortet

Erreichbare Punkte: 1,00

In Scheffler’s view, our attitudes towards the afterlife show that

Wählen Sie eine Antwort:

- a. we are more egoistic than it has often seemed
- b. we are roughly as egoistic as it has often seemed
- c. we are less egoistic than it has often seemed

Frage 11

Bisher nicht beantwortet

Erreichbare Punkte: 1,00

Scheffler's book is based on a peculiar methodology which involves investigating "our" attitudes towards the afterlife, without questioning the rationality of these attitudes or examining their causal origins. From this investigation Scheffler infers wide-ranging claims about values, importance and meaning. What do you consider worthwhile about this methodology? What do you consider problematic about it?

◄ Questions/Comments

Direkt zu:

Final Reflections ►